

From the Rabbi's Desk

By Rabbi Arthur Rutberg

The Prophet Isaiah told us (58:13) to make the Sabbath a delight. The word he used for delight was “oneg.” From this prophetic statement, we derived the lovely and enjoyable custom of having something sweet and yummy to enhance our Friday evening Shabbat services. I well remember as a kid attending Friday night services at the newly established Reform synagogue in Far Rockaway, NY that the oneg was the much-anticipated highlight of the Erev Shabbat experience.

Fast forward some twenty-five years or so and I am serving as the rabbi of the synagogue in Columbus, GA, while my colleague Tom Friedman is the rabbi at the Temple. He was a frequent blood donor and would joke that his blood was more desirable and special because it was the only type that was kosher for Shabbat. When I looked at him quizzically, he said, “Oneg.” His blood type was O negative. After we laughed he asked me, “So what’s your blood type? A plus?” I said, “No. Be positive.”

For the next few months, our Shabbat services will still be in Pre-Neg territory but we need to return to the Oneg (or should I say no-neg) way of thinking and feeling. I am not now referring to the after-services Shabbat delight nor to the blood type. I am referring to an Oneg mentality where the “O” of Oneg becomes a 0, “zero.” In other words, we need to make Shabbat and every day here at Temple Bat Yam into a delight, an Oneg, a time, a place and a congregation of zero negativity; a Temple and a sanctuary free from strife. As it says in the song by the great Jewish songwriter Harold Arlen, we’ve got to accentuate the positive and eliminate the negative.

When the Israelites were instructed to build the altar for the Temple, they were prohibited from using iron tools to cut the stones. Our rabbis explained this rule by teaching us that the sacred worship that took place on the altar within the Holy Temple that stood in Jerusalem for a thousand years was meant to enhance our lives and the life of our community but iron tools are like swords and knives items designed to shorten lives. As our rabbis taught us, we must not combine weapons that shorten our lives with Shabbat observance meant to enhance our lives. And as we know, weapons can be made of stone or steel or of any substance and they can also be made of words.

Therefore, it must be our task and our objective to remove all weapons from our sanctuary and our Temple. Negative hurtful words have no place in our Temple and among our congregation. Negative, hurtful words are weapons too and we need to be diligent and vigilant to keep them very far away from us.

Our world is too filled with hate and anger, animosity and negativity. Our Temple needs to be a sanctuary, a refuge, a place and an institution of zero negativity not afflicted by rivalry and contention; a friendly, welcoming shelter from the storm, a true Sukkat Shalom, a shelter of peace.

L’shalom,

Rabbi Arthur Rutberg

President's Report

Dear Friends,

It occurred to me this morning, as I was sipping my half and half Dunkin' coffee, that this will be my last newsletter message as President (unless, of course, I newsletter bomb you). Truthfully, I was struggling with a topic that is fresh and interesting. So, I decided to tell you about my travels at Temple Bat Yam.

Barry and I first joined Temple Bat Yam when the building was new and fresh which was in 1997 or so. We were part-timers and I needed a Jewish community around me when we spent time here. Sixteen years ago, we retired, sold our house in the Philadelphia suburbs, packed up (under Barry's protest...he doesn't like change) and moved to Ocean Pines full time. It was great, until we hit the wrath of the pollen season and then the wrath of the leaves in the fall. Oy vey, what did we get into? We are now in The Parke where the leaves are raked for us.

But there was TBY where we felt so very comfortable, and I sorely needed a place to transition from work to retirement. I had skills that could be used and time during which to use them. I joined Sisterhood because that's what Jewish ladies do (How much Mah Jongg can I play?). Before I knew it the Vice President of Sisterhood had to step down and I was asked to fill in the position. "Yes", I said humbly because I really was an unknown to them. It didn't take long before the President had to step down. Guess who was in line to be president? Yes, you are right...me! Okay now what because I never belonged to a Sisterhood before. With a great group of ladies around me we sailed through the next few years making lots of money, donating to the Temple, and running fun and delicious events.

I was feeling good about the Temple and decided to run for trustee. So, now I held two positions which was great. Larry Pack was the president elect at the time and as we moseyed out of a meeting, he asked me to be his executive VP. Here we go again! I was completely surprised, taken off guard, but said, "Let me think about it". Yes, that took about three seconds. That following July I started two years as EVP. I was playing with the big kids! It was great fun.

I took my first two-year term followed by Paul Schwab and Karen Abrams during which I served as a trustee (never getting too far away from the action). Then I got the phone call...would I be willing to serve as President again. Hmm... let me think about it ...why, yes, it would be my pleasure. That one term turned into two terms. Whew!! So, here I am finishing up my 6th year at TBY serving as President. Overall, it has been one of the most rewarding things I have done in my life, excluding having a great marriage and two wonderful kids that we raised. I have wonderful friendships as a result, and they all know what gefilte fish is. The Temple has become a home to me which I totally enjoy, which is supported by the fact that I am there probably 3-4 times a week (obsessive/compulsive?).

Don't get any false ideas, I'm not dying. You don't have to chip in to get a memorial plaque for me...not yet. I'm not leaving, just going to the land of the Immediate Past President, so I will still be serving on the Board. Just know It has been my pleasure and honor to serve as President for 6 wonderful years.

Hugs to my TBY family, Candy

Membership Committee

Currently our membership is 153 total, 54 are part-time members. Our Gift of Membership and Friends Memberships are successful and continuing.

We are working with several local Chambers of Commerce. We did a “Business After Hours” event in Millsboro that Rabbi and Sara hosted with me. It was well attended and I have made contact with some locals there who are planning on attending our Purim Dinner. We are networking with the Bethany-Fenwick Chamber and the Ocean Pines Chamber to spread the word that Temple Bat Tam is here in Berlin and welcoming to all. Anyone who would like to help with me out with the Chamber events in their area would be welcome to join me.

We have started our TBY Guides program and have paired each new member with a long-term member. Anyone interested in being a Guide can contact Doreen Linehan or Cindy Brown.

We ask that congregants volunteer to be Greeters for our Friday night services. This is important to be the first face of Temple Bat Yam and welcome people and make them feel comfortable joining us. If you have a family member, friend, neighbor, or co-worker who would be interested in information about our special memberships and services and social activities please have them contact Doreen Linehan or Cindy Brown.

Cindy and I welcome any congregant interested in joining the Membership Committee. Please contact one of us if interested. Our Greeters ARE the first smiling faces they see when they come into our Temple, and we want to make them feel welcome. We have received much positive feedback on this from people unfamiliar with Temple Bat Yam, and how unique this is compared to other communities where they have attended services and social events. Let’s keep this going!

Bagels and Books

Think how often our lives are run by deadlines! In this case, however, it's allowing me to highlight two of our most recent Bagels & Books discussions in this edition of the newsletter.

The Plot Against America, by Philip Roth, discussed in January, was a challenging book for group leader, Bob Strauss, to present because there were varied opinions of the participants which made for a lively and sometimes controversial discussion. The premise of this “alternative reality” book is that President Franklin Delano Roosevelt was not re-elected because Charles Lindbergh was voted in as the new president. This change of administration brought policies of the America First movement which created some issues like those in today’s politics. Individuals in the group did not hesitate to express their thoughts.

If you couldn’t attend this meeting of Bagels & Books, we have the DVD of the television miniseries produced from the book as well as a copy of the book in our Temple Bat Yam library. Please don’t hesitate to check them out.

Bill Johnstone, Co-Chair of the Library Committee (left)
Bob Strauss, Group Discussion Leader

In March, we appreciated that Arna Miller, who presented a book last year about the Ku Klux Klan, Jews, and the politics in Mississippi, returned to discuss The Mezuzah in the Madonna's Foot by Trudi Alexy. The book highlights the experiences of Jews who converted as long ago as the Spanish Inquisition to save their lives and during WWII for Jews who did the same. It tells the stories of Marranos, Crypto-Jews, and Conversos over time and geography. It also describes the contribution that Franco's Spain made to help the Jews survive in the early 1940s which seemed to be a paradox from long ago.

Several people made connections to other fiction and non-fiction books we have read over the past several years. For example, The Last Jew presented by Anita and Steve Winkler, Such Good Girls: The Journey of the Holocaust's Hidden Child Survivors presented by Janice Hamburg, Pirates of the Caribbean presented by Joan and Sylvan Sobel, and People Love Dead Jews presented by Rabbi Rutberg, focus on some aspect of Secret Jews but take place during different times and in different locations.

PS - If you want to know the significance of the book's title, The Mezuzah in Madonna's Foot, read the end of the book first!

Library Report

THE TEMPLE BAT YAM LIBRARY NEEDS YOU!!

Our library is a gem that needs a little loving care by only four special people and that could be YOU! We need four people who will donate only two hours a month to put returned books back on the shelves. You can choose the day and time that fits your schedule and which week of the month as well! You can even volunteer on Sundays while waiting for your child at Religious School. You will receive personalized instruction to do this simple but very important job. If you'd like to learn more, please contact Judy Johnstone at 240-620-3949 or johnston@msmary.edu.

Caring Committee

The Caring Committee, under the leadership of Rabbi Rutberg, continues to be a vital part of community life at Temple Bat Yam. We are a committee of caring volunteers who are compassionate, respectful, and supportive to our temple family.

Here's a brief rundown of some of the things that we do:

- Celebrate new life by having a tree planted in Israel
- Lend a caring ear and a shoulder to lean on
- Run errands
- Drive people to and from local medical appointments
- Donate and deliver meals when needed
- Visit the sick at home and in the hospital

And the list goes on. This amazing group of volunteers continues to evolve and change as situations present themselves.

We need your help! You are our eyes and ears in this congregation. Please contact us or Rabbi Rutberg if you know of a need within our temple community.

Board Nominations

TBY has six officers and seven trustees. The terms of four officers and three or four trustees expire as of June 30, 2024, the end of our fiscal year.

The available positions are as follows: President, Congregational Vice President, Executive Secretary and Congregational Secretary. There will be 3 or 4 Trustee positions available as well.

As outlined in the Bylaws of the Temple, a brief description of the duties of each position is as follows:

President: To preside at all meetings of the congregation and the Board of Trustees; to designate committee chairpersons in consultation with the Executive Board and the Board of Trustees; and to serve as an ex-officio member of all committees. The President can reassign committee oversight duties of officers.

Congregational Vice President: To preside at all meetings of the Executive Board in the absence of the Executive Vice President; to act in place of the Executive Vice President when he/she is unavailable; and to succeed the Executive Vice President in the event of his/her resignation, death or removal from office. The Congregational Vice President oversees the function of the remaining committees.

Executive Secretary: To write and keep accounts of the formal proceedings of meetings of the congregation, the Board of Trustees and the Executive Board. The Executive Secretary acts as custodian of all legal documents.

Congregational Secretary: To send membership notices of all meetings and to acknowledge donations.

Trustees: Trustees shall serve on the Board of Trustees with all the rights, privileges and responsibilities accorded to officers of the congregation. Each trustee shall serve on at least one committee. The Trustees shall review the bylaws from time to time. Many recommendations made by the Executive Board are reviewed and voted upon by the Trustees prior to final decisions, with some of the actions ultimately required with congregational support, such as the election of Officers and Trustees, and the Temple's annual budget, etc.

Bette Bohlmann has agreed to chair the Nominating Committee which will provide recommendations regarding these upcoming positions. Committee members include Rina Thaler, Doreen Linehan, Judy Johnstone and Tiffanie Nichols.

These positions require attendance to meetings, and responsibilities as described in the job descriptions. Interested congregants, in good standing, can email their bio with involvement at TBY, and an explanation of interest to Bette Bohlmann at gabywjb@verizon.net no later than Monday, April 15, 2024.

Honoring Servicemembers Who Gave Their All

Congregant Sy Longberg, z”l, started it all. Sy, an Army veteran, wanted to do something nice for his fellow soldiers. He and his wife Marion were able to obtain biweekly lists from the US Army’s mortuary officer of soldiers who died while on active duty. Marion did an awesome but time-consuming job of inserting the names, ranks, and next-of-kin names into a letter template; printing the letters and bringing them into weekly services for us to sign; and typing mailing labels and mailing the signed letters. Sy and Marion expected nothing in return, yet the thank-you letters, prayer cards, and other mementoes they received from the soldiers’ families filled several three-ring binders which were on display at TBY for a number of years. The Longbergs made more than a few pen-pals that way.

Suspecting that there was a way to save Marion time and energy, I volunteered to help her a few years ago. It’s not a complex process, and I often find myself pondering the lives of the servicemembers as I process the letters. Next-of-kin recipients have come from all 50 states, DC, PR, and GU, as well as some overseas bases in countries as disparate as Germany, Jamaica, the Philippines, and Italy.

I now undertake this biweekly project mostly alone, with Gary Murray ably filling in when I cannot print and distribute the letters. Though texts and Facebook thank-yous are more common to receive these days than a written letter, I still see how grateful these families are that someone remembered the contribution their deceased loved one made to the American way of life.

The US is not formally at war with any nation right now, but as is sadly clear from world news headlines, thousands of them still put their lives at risk doing their jobs. There are many causes of death on these lists, some service-related, some not. The deceased come in all colors and races, genders, and a wide span of ages. I’ve seen ranks from E-1 (“buck private”) all the way up to O-7 (one-star general). Some were West Point grads, some not. Some were career military, some were not, or at least didn’t plan to be. They all had two things in common: they were Americans, and they loved their country enough to even consider making the ultimate sacrifice for it. May all their memories be a blessing.

Successful Souper Sunday

TBY had a soup drive for Souper Sunday. The mountain of soup we collected went to Sarah’s Pantry of the Community Church. Our good works within the community do not go unnoticed. We received the following thank you note:

Dear Temple Bat Yam Friends,
Thank you for collecting food for Sarah’s Pantry for “Souper” Bowl Sunday. Your continued generosity helps us serve our neighbors who are food “insecure”.

Blessings,

Temple Bat Yam Puts Focus on Community Connections - From the Bayside Gazette

(March 14, 2024) Members of Temple Bat Yam in Berlin have for years boasted a ongoing commitment to interfaith engagement and community service, fostering connections that have strengthened the bonds within the local community.

According to a news release, the journey began 2 1/2 years ago when Rabbi Arthur Rutberg was installed as the spiritual leader of the temple. Invitations were extended to clergy in the surrounding area, resulting in overwhelming support and participation in the installation ceremony. From there, the Interfaith Friendship Association emerged, now boasting about 16 members from diverse religious backgrounds.

In response to the Oct. 7, attack on Israel, Temple Bat Yam galvanized the entire community into action. Local churches were invited to join in a prayer service, demonstrating unity and solidarity. The community rallied together, contributing over $1,200, which was promptly donated to support Israel. The Windmill Winery contributed another $1,500. A Play for Israel event held in a Delaware church also saw success, collecting over $10,000 from players and merchants.

The outpouring of support during the challenging times truly encapsulates the warmth and compassion of the community.

The release said Temple Bat Yam's commitment to interfaith engagement extends beyond crisis response, encompassing a range of initiatives that bring together members of various faiths and backgrounds.

The initiatives include Interfaith Thanksgiving Prayer services, ice cream socials at the community church, Chamber Music By the Sea with community-wide invitations, and participation in events such as Christmas dinners, food and clothing drives, collections for Toys for Tots, Mitzvah Days, teddy bears collected for hospice patients, letters of condolence to fallen soldiers, and the Hal Glick Gala, partnered with Atlantic General Hospital, where proceeds are directed to charities chosen by honorees.

Temple Bat Yam also hosted a Menorah lighting event on the 8th day of Chanukah at the Inn Berlin, attracting hundreds of attendees, both Jews and Christians. The success of the night paved the way for future celebrations, with the next Menorah lighting scheduled for the seventh day of Chanukah, coinciding with New Year's Eve at 5 p.m.

Temple Bat Yam extends an invitation to the community church to join in the Purim celebration at 7 p.m., March 22, to further solidifying the spirit of cooperation and shared celebration.

The release said Temple Bat Yam remains committed to building bridges between communities, fostering understanding, and creating a strong, united, and supportive environment for all.

For more information on the temple's initiatives or upcoming events, contact President, Candy Gusst at fgusst@aol.com.

Participants in Temple Bat Yam's Mitzvah Day car wash are shown at Buckingham Presbyterian Church. The event raised social awareness and over $600 for Worcester Goes Purple.

Temple Bat Yam presents...

Bagels & Books

For close to half a century after World War II, Marty Glickman was the voice of New York sports. His distinctive style of broadcasting, on television & especially on radio, garnered for him legions of fans who would not miss his play-by-play accounts. From the 1940s through 1990s, he was as iconic a sports figure in town as the Yankees' Mickey Mantle, the Knicks' Walt Frazier, or the Jets' Joe Namath. His vocabulary & method of broadcasting left an indelible mark on the industry, and many of today's most famous sportscasters were Glickman disciples. To this day, many fans who grew up listening to his coverage of Knicks basketball & Giants football games, among the myriad of events that Glickman covered, recall fondly, and can still recite, his descriptions of actions in arenas & stadiums. In Marty Glickman, Jeffrey S. Gurock showcases the life of this important contributor to American popular culture.
